Welcome to our new Lynx Newsletter!

Having your say with the DSA

In our last issue we mentioned the proposed changes to the way we will learn to drive, as the consultation is now over on this issue, we will be watching closely for the results. Lynx driving school has always believed that we are teaching our pupils to drive for life, not just for your driving test. So we are also seeking new ways to enhance our current lesson schedule to make safer drivers for our future. But to do this, like the DSA, we also would like your views on this matter. So please email me at steven@lynxdrivers.co.uk and we will start work on an improved future for learning to drive within our driving school.

The future for Lynx Driving School

With Christmas and the New Year approaching fast we have been looking at 2009 for the driving school. As we all know this year has mainly seen the environment and financial issues dominating the news. So we aim to do our bit to help these important issues by introducing environmentally friendly vehicles to reduce our carbon footprint, secondly, we aim to increase our lynx value range to keep leaning to drive affordable. So with these in mind we can all look forward to a very happy New Year!
